

Abstract of the Disclosure

Adhesive bandage or surgical dressing having markings or indicia providing or associated with wound care instructions. The present invention allows for the placement over a wound an adhesive bandage that clearly indicates information about what treatment the wound or patient should receive.